KEY POINTS

The Barcelona Line Passing Drill is a simple, possession-based passing exercise built around movement. The two central players shift off their markers to open passing angles on either side, while the outer players feed the ball up and down the line. Work through the short-pass, long-pass and one-two variations, rotating players every few minutes. The drill develops first touch, passing accuracy, spatial awareness and the habit of adjusting runs to a teammate's movement.
